POSTAL HISTORY SOUTH WEST AFRICA
2046	1927-94 Walvis Bay accumulation of forty four cards and covers and two pieces displayed on twenty seven A4 pages in plastic sleeves showing postal history of Walvis Bay through South African Mandate Period through to independent Namibia. Good range of stamps applied tied by selection of cancels mostly identified by a pencil notation relating to the postmark type as per the Postmarks of South West Africa by R.F. Putzel which has valuations of 35 years ago. Walvis Bay is a desert enclave on the South West African coast, mail has never been that plentiful due to the small population. Even some of the smaller local offices in the later period were little used. It has an interesting history: first part of the Cape Colony, then part of the Union of South Africa, then overrun by the Germans 1914-1915, occupied by the Union Defence Forces in 1915, then under a League of Nations mandate and transferred to South West Africa in 1921.
